

electors to vote on each amendment separately." I'd submit to you that Senator Wesely's argument that these are two separate amendments is very valid. We may have people that agree that we should meet biennially. We may have people that feel strongly on when the session should begin. But if the two get put together in one amendment (sic) they only have one yes or no vote on both propositions put together. They are two separate amendments and they should be submitted to the voters separately. So, as a voter, I can vote yes on the date when we go into session, and if I care to, yes on whether we meet annually or biennially. But to lump the two together, I think, very seriously violates the Constitution itself. Because these are two separate amendments the Constitution says they should be considered separately. For that reason I ask you to join the eloquent, spellbinding Senator Wesely and support the Speaker's ruling for germaneness. Thank you.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Haberman, please.

SENATOR HABERMAN: (Response inaudible.)

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Chambers, a second time, then Senator DeCamp.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. Chairman, members of the Legislature, and especially Senator DeCamp, Senator DeCamp, this is not to ask you a question but inviting you to listen up. I hate that phrase, but that gets attention. It is too bad that people who are not right in this area cannot hear everything that is said while I try to present my argument. It is an amusing area that we are in over here, on occasion, very enlightening too, keeps you alert and loose, and distracted. Subliminal suggestion. Senators Wesely and...who was that other youngster? Withem, Senator Withem, we should not be with 'em this morning, but if you accept their arguments maybe you would be. So here is what Senator DeCamp might consider. If adding his amendment, or attempting to add it, creates two distinct propositions, and each ought to be handled separately, Senator DeCamp could seek to amend this LR 23 by striking what is originally there and substituting what he is offering. Is that what you did, Senator DeCamp?

SENATOR DECAMP: (Response inaudible.)

SENATOR CHAMBERS: So Senator DeCamp says one thing, and
